

School Spirit Posters

Inspire your students to make the right choices without lecturing or criticizing.

It's amazing how times have changed. In the '40s, one of the top student disciplinary problems was chewing gum. In the '90s it was drug and alcohol abuse.

In today's high school environment, teachers and counselors need all the help they can get to reach students. But with heavy class-loads and crammed schedules, how can they possibly get through to each and every student?

Spirit Posters deliver positive messages that help students build self-esteem and pride, combat peer pressure, set goals and fight alcohol and drug abuse. The best part is that they do it day after day, in a way that is positive and uplifting, without lecturing or criticizing.
